EXPLOSION KILLS WOMAN, TWO CHILDREN

YUGOSLAVIA JOINS AXIS; NATION ANGRY

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE
Yugoslavia signed up with the axis in a colorful ceremony at Vienna today, while in Yugoslavia itself rumblings of discontent increased.
Chancellor Hitler, German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, Japanese Ambassador Oshima and Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano all were on hand for the newest axis diplomatic victory.
Yugoslavian Premier Dragisha Cvetovic and Foreign Minister Alexander Cincar-Marcovic affixed their signatures to the pact after travelling to Vienna from Belgrade, where pamphlets had been distributed branding them "traitors" and threatening them with assassination.
Amid unconfirmed reports that German and Yugoslavian troops had clashed along the Bulgarian border yesterday, the situation in Yugoslavia hourly grew more electric.

Sullen and angry Yugoslavians read brand new postcards and leaflets, bearing insulting caricatures of Chancellor Hitler and Premier Mussolini and warning that this capitulation to Germany endangered Yugoslavia's independence.
Many of the leaflets bore the mark—grammatical errors—of being the work of non-Yugoslavians.

Clashes Unconfirmed
Distribution of the leaflets accompanied unconfirmed reports of clashes between Yugoslavian and German troops along the Bulgarian frontier. These reports increased tension in Belgrade.
No details of the reported border clashes were received, beyond the statement that they were supposed to have occurred yesterday afternoon.

The leaflets read:
"Yugoslavians in the past have been an heroic, fighting people who have never surrendered to an enemy. But now they are yielding to Germany.

"This is only the first step.
"Germany certainly will demand passage of her troops through Yugoslavian territory.

"The weak Yugoslavian government will be unable to refuse these demands and the independence of Yugoslavia will be endangered.
"National harmony and energy must be preserved for the dangerous days which are coming."

Fears, openly expressed in certain quarters, that German troops may pour into Yugoslavia now that the pact has been signed, produced an explosive situation.

Many Yugoslavians—particularly Serbians—have expressed bitter opposition to the pact during the last few days.

Mrs. Isaac Schreckengast, Two Marshall Youngsters Die After Former Pours Kerosene On Coals In Stove

FLAMES DAMAGE INTERIOR OF HOUSE

One Child Dead On Reaching Hospital; Other Victims Live Four Hours

A Circleville woman and her two little granddaughters were dead Tuesday from burns received when a kerosene stove in their three-room home at York and North Scioto Streets exploded Monday about 5:30 p. m.

The victims were Mrs. Isaac Schreckengast and her granddaughters, Helen Ruth Marshall, 7, and Jo Ann, 5. Helen, whom rescuers found lying behind the stove, was dead on arrival at Berger Hospital. The grandmother and the other little girl died at the hospital Monday night about 9:15.

Isaac Schreckengast, who was in another part of the house when the explosion happened, was not injured.

Fire Chief Talmer Wise said the explosion happened when Mrs. Schreckengast attempted to kindle a fire in the living room stove by pouring kerosene on hot coals. A five gallon oil can with the bottom blown out was found beside the stove. Mr. Schreckengast told the fire chief he did not know how much kerosene was in the can.

Neighbors Assist

Neighbors reported that they heard no explosion. Gideon Eckard, 159 York Street, said that he first learned of the explosion when he noticed flames coming from the windows of the house.
"I hurried into the house," he said, "and found one of the little girls (Helen) behind the stove, and after I had carried her out I went back in and tried to find the grandmother, but the smoke was so bad I couldn't see her."

Another neighbor, Pearl Valentine, North Scioto Street, told the following story:

"I had just got home from work and was in the house preparing for supper when my son, Junior, came running in and said the Schreckengast house was on fire and that Mr. Schreckengast was calling for help. When I arrived at the house, Schreckengast had pulled most of the burning clothing from his wife and had dragged her to the back porch. I found one of the little girls (Jo Ann), under the bed in the adjoining room, but I don't know whether she was in the bed at the time of the explosion and was blown out, or whether she was in the room with her other sister."

All three rooms of the house were enveloped in flames when firemen arrived to help in the rescue. Jo Ann was placed in the Defenbaugh ambulance and Mrs. Schreckengast and Helen in the Rinehart ambulance and taken to Berger Hospital. Firemen extinguished the flames before they had destroyed the building, although the interior was badly damaged.

Oldest Of Six

The Marshall sisters are the oldest of six daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ashley Marshall and had lived with their grandparents since shortly after birth. Their grandmother worked at the WPA sewing center. She was 55.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon at the grave in Forest Cemetery for the two Marshall children, the Rev. James O. Miller officiating. Interment was by M. S. Rinehart.
Mrs. Schreckengast was born in Pike County, a daughter of Stephen and Maria Davis. Surviving are her husband, three sisters, four brothers and Mrs. Marshall, who is an adopted daughter.
Funeral services for Mrs. Schreckengast will be Wednesday at 2 p. m. in the Pilgrim Holiness Church. The Rev. Mr. Miller officiating. Burial will be in Forest Cemetery by L. M. Mader. The casket will not be opened.

The explosion was the worst Circleville has experienced since about a year ago when a gas explosion killed Miss Veronica Kuhns and her mother, Mary, at 118 West High Street.

MARKET EASES

NEW YORK, March 25—The stock market eased today, a few losses running to a point or so although most price changes were small.

Nineteen Missing in Oil Tanker Explosion

22 INJURED MEN BEING SPEEDED ASHORE FOR AID

Cities Service Vessel Hit By Flames Off Coast Of North Carolina

MOREHEAD CITY, N. C., March 25—Seventeen of the surviving 22 seamen from the Cities Service Oil tanker, Denver, rocked by explosion and set afire late last night with probable loss of 19 lives, were brought to a Morehead City hospital this morning by coast-guard rescue boats. The remaining five survivors are aboard the steamship W. W. Bruce, which is said to be en route to Boston.

MOREHEAD CITY, N. C., March 25—Coast guard life boats today removed from a rescue vessel nearly a score of seamen, injured in an explosion aboard the oil tanker Denver last night, and headed for Morehead City, where they will be hospitalized.
The men were taken off the tanker Pan New York, which sped to the rescue after the blast aboard the 9,316-ton Denver, owned by the Cities Service Oil Company.
The number of injured men taken from the Pan New York was not definitely known ashore, but coast guard officials said they understood there were 16 men.

WILMINGTON, N. C., March 25—Nineteen seamen were reported missing and 22 were rescued early today following an explosion and fire aboard the 9,316-ton Cities Service Oil Company tanker Denver.

The missing crew members all were believed to have been killed by a blast which rocked the forward section of the vessel. Immediate details were not available but it was reported the ship caught fire at 11 p. m. Monday, while 80 miles south of Cape Lookout, N. C.

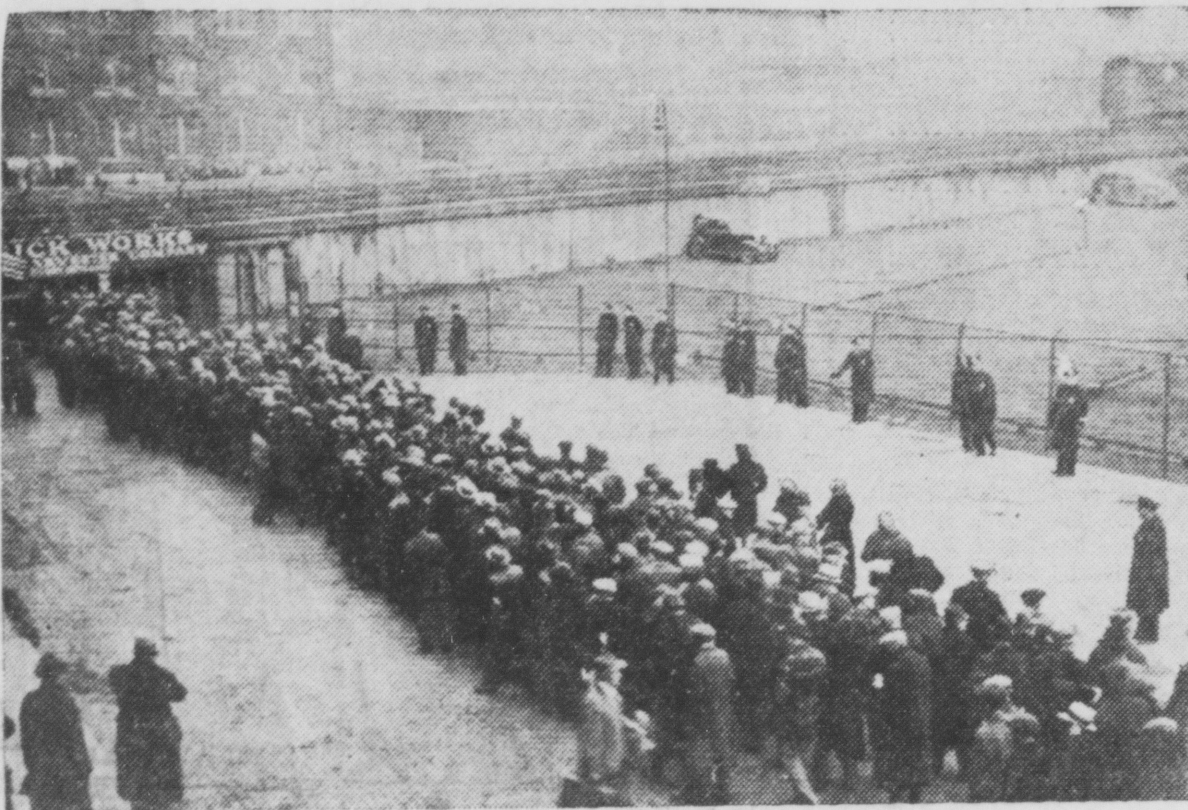

Captain Rescued
The rescued men, including Captain John Saxen, were picked up by the steamer W. W. Bruce and the tanker Pan New York. Six coast guard cutters were released. (Continued on Page Two)

European Bulletins

BERLIN—German troops under command of Gen. Rommel, the famous tank commander who pierced the Maginot line in France, have occupied Elagheila, one of the fortified points in Libya which the British recently captured from the Italians, the high command announced today. Elagheila is situated about 120 miles south of Benghazi.

BELGRADE—German legations throughout the Balkans celebrated the Greek national holiday today, commemorating Greek independence. In Belgrade and other Balkan capitals the German legations displayed the Greek flag.

LONDON — Seventeen British ships totalling 60,670 tons were lost as a result of enemy action during the week ending March 17, the admiralty announced today. Six allied merchant vessels aggregating 11,103 tons were lost during the same period.

BERLIN — German planes bombed and badly damaged a 5,000-ton merchant ship at dawn today off the northwestern Scottish coast, it was announced in Berlin.

MOSCOW — Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka was en route to Berlin today after conferring with Josef Stalin and Premier-Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov in Moscow.

LONDON — German raiders failed to retaliate during the night against the latest blistering RAF attacks on Berlin and other sections of Germany and Nazi-occupied territory, the British Air Ministry said today. No German planes appeared over Britain during the night.

NAZI FREIGHTER HALTED FROM LEAVING MASSAWA

LONDON, March 25—The 8,516-ton German freighter Oder was halted today while endeavoring to escape from Massawa, the chief port in Eritrea, by the small British escort vessel Shoreham, the admiralty reported.

The British and Italians are now engaged in heavy fighting at Kerena in Eritrea. The presence of the 1,100 ton Shoreham would indicate that larger units of the British fleet are also nearby.

UNDER close guard of 700 policemen, Chicago's largest single detail in history, more than 3,000 members of a newly-formed A. F. of L. union are pictured above marching into the McCormick plant of the International Harvester Company in Chicago, against which the CIO's Farm Equipment Workers Organizing committee has been conducting a strike since February 28. More than 1,000 CIO strikers watched as the A. F. of L. men entered the plant, which normally employs 6,100 men.

GRAZIANI QUILTS GERMANS IRKED AS DUCE'S CHIEF BY RETURN OF IN AFRICAN WAR TWO TO CANADA

ROME, March 25—Marshal Rodolfo Graziani today resigned as commander-in-chief of Italian forces in North Africa. His post was taken over by General Italo Gariboldi.
The new shake-up in the Italian high command resulted from Graziani's own request, an official communique said.
"At his own request," the statement said, "Marshal Graziani ceases to be chief of staff of the army, governor of Libya and superior commander of the armed forces in North Africa."

No official reason for Graziani's desire to step down was given.
According to German officials, the American action was a violation of an international agreement regarding escaped prisoners of war which the United States signed.

COOKS TO SEEK SALARY BOOSTS AT CINCINNATI

CINCINNATI, March 25—Another labor crisis threatened Cincinnati's board of education today as cooks in the school lunch rooms served notice that they would demand pay increases.
Fred H. Ressler, business manager of the AFL Cooks and Pastry Workers Union, declared that cooks were the lowest paid of all school workers, receiving only $10 to $15 weekly. He further charged that efforts were made to discourage employees from joining the union.
Ressler said the cooks, hoping to avoid unpleasantness, had deferred their demand until the dispute with engineers and firemen was settled. The maintenance men recently struck for higher wages, forcing the closing of most Cincinnati schools for several days.

The board said it would consider a wage schedule submitted by Ressler.

CCC ENROLLMENT 20

The Pickaway County CCC quota for April has been fixed at 20 youths, with applications coming in slowly, according to Delos H. Marcy, relief administrator, who is in charge of the enrollment. Ten of the youths will leave Circleville April 1 and the other 10 a little later.

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 25—Gov. Arthur H. James intervened in the strike at the Bethlehem Steel Co. plant at Bethlehem today and Motor Police Commissioner Lynn G. Adams was rushed to the scene on the appeal for help of Sheriff W. Calvin Nickel of Northampton County.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., March 25—Several strikers were injured early today when police tossed tear gas bombs in a clash with pickets of the CIO's Steel Workers' Organizing Committee at the gates of the strike-bound Bethlehem Steel Company plant.

The fight, which was precipitated when Garrett Roach, former chief of the company's private police force, sought to enter the main gate of the plant in his automobile, climaxed a night marked by several outbreaks of violence. The skirmish lasted only a few minutes and order was restored after police discharged several tear gas shells. Strike leaders immediately protested the police action to Bethlehem City authorities.

The strikers, according to some of the spectators who milled with several thousand pickets and other onlookers outside the company gates, tried to overturn

ORDER OF COURT MAY BE SOUGHT AGAINST FORDS

DETROIT, March 25—A threat to obtain a court order compelling Henry and Edsel Ford to appear as witnesses at an NLRB hearing to determine whether a collective bargaining election shall be held at three Ford plants was made today by Maurice Sugar, general counsel for the UAW-CIO.

As the hearing on the UAW petition for an election among the 100,000 Ford workers entered its second day, Sugar said:
"We could avoid appropriate action by the court if the counsel for the company (I. A. Capizzi) would stipulate that the Rouge plant constitutes an appropriate unit for bargaining under the labor act."

Capizzi took the opportunity to question the legality of subpoenas served by telegraph on the two Fords, Harry Bennett, personal director of the Ford Motor Co., and Charles E. Sorensen, general manager of the concern.

VETERANS WILL CONSIDER BILL BANNING ANTI UNITS

Legionnaires at their meeting in Memorial Hall Wednesday night at 7:30 will consider granting support to House Bill 355 providing for legislation to bar all un-American groups from the election ballot, Legion Commander James Shea announced Tuesday.

Among other business to be considered at the meeting will be the selection of representatives to attend the district Legion meeting in Portsmouth April 20.

WORK ON MAJOR TAX BILL LOOMS AFTER APRIL 1

WASHINGTON, March 25 — A widespread extension of nuisance and excise taxes, as well as sharp increases in income and corporation taxes, was predicted by senatorial fiscal experts today as congress faced the problem of paying for the huge defense and British aid programs.

Work on a new tax bill which may range from $1,500,000,000 to $3,000,000,000 was started after the senate approved by a vote of 67 to 9 the $7,000,000,000 appropriation to finance the American arsenal for democracies.

The appropriation measure will be sped by plane to President Roosevelt, vacationing in Florida waters, after it is signed by House Speaker Rayburn. As soon as the President affixes his signature on the bill a huge flow of American planes, ships, tanks, guns, munitions and food will begin for Great Britain, Greece, China and other world democracies.

With defense costs increasing in addition to the huge amount for the aid program, congress is slated to start consideration of a new tax bill soon after April 1, when final income tax returns are counted.

CHICAGO GIRL ENDS HER THIRD YEAR AS VICTIM OF SLEEPING SICKNESS

CHICAGO, March 25—Five-year-old Mary Ellen Reardon, today completed her third year of unbroken sleep as a victim of encephalitis, commonly called sleeping sickness.

The youngster was afflicted with the strange disease following an attack of measles and since has remained in a coma.

Mary Ellen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel F. Reardon, said today there has been no change in the child's condition in the last year. She can move her head, legs and arms, but does not recognize anyone.

The appropriation measure will be sped by plans to President Roosevelt, vacationing in Florida waters, after it is signed by House Speaker Rayburn. As soon as the President affixes his signature on the bill a huge flow of American planes, ships, tanks, guns, munitions and food will begin for Great Britain, Greece, China and other world democracies.
With defense costs increasing in addition to the huge amount for the aid program, congress is slated to start consideration of a new tax bill soon after April 1, when final income tax returns are counted.

CHICAGO GIRL ENDS HER THIRD YEAR AS VICTIM OF SLEEPING SICKNESS

CHICAGO, March 25—Five-year-old Mary Ellen Reardon, today completed her third year of unbroken sleep as a victim of encephalitis, commonly called sleeping sickness.
The youngster was afflicted with the strange disease following an attack of measles and since has remained in a coma.
Mary Ellen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel F. Reardon, said today there has been no change in the child's condition in the last year. She can move her head, legs and arms, but does not recognize anyone.

F. D. TO 'FREEZE' HOLDINGS IN U. S. OF YUGOSLAVIA

WASHINGTON, March 25—President Roosevelt today ordered all Yugoslavian funds in this country frozen.

The freezing order, approved by Mr. Roosevelt from his yacht off the Florida coast and made public in Washington, followed by only a few hours the formal alignment of Yugoslavia with the axis nations.

The Commerce Department estimated that there is approximately $1,000,000 of Yugoslavian wealth in the United States. American nationals are reported to have about $36,000,000 in Yugoslavian investments, of which $32,000,000 represents holdings of Yugoslavian government bonds.

Yugoslavia became the thirteenth axis-dominated nation to have its funds frozen by this government since the outbreak of the war.

DYKSTRA FLAYS STRIKES AS NEW BOARD CONFERS

WASHINGTON, March 25—Taking cognizance of the increasing number of labor disputes in defense industries, Dr. Clarence Dykstra, chairman, today told the opening session of President Roosevelt's new 11-member mediation board that management and labor must settle their controversies without strikes.

Declaring that "this is a time of world crisis," Dykstra said: "We shall urge labor and management to prevent any further interruption in the flow of defense material. We shall ask both to settle disputes around the conference table. What we all do at such a time must be in the public interest."

"It is our obligation—to help labor and management reach a real agreement before production is halted. To this end we shall bend every effort."

"Too little and too late has spelled disaster in too many places already."

Roach's car when he drove in the main gate.

Twenty policemen then rushed forward, seeking to keep the car from rolling over. During the height of the melee, one of the policemen pulled out a tear gas pistol and began firing. The strikers immediately fell back.

Two of the men, Raymond Cakras, 21, of Bethlehem, and Frank Hovarth, 53, also of Bethlehem, both suffering from gas burns about the eyes were taken away in a sound truck for treatment. Cakras also sustained a cut across the eye when hit by one of the gas shells. Several others were treated on the scene.

Three Cars Damaged

In clashes earlier in the morning, one car was overturned and two others damaged as the union men sought to enforce their walk-out which was called yesterday to protest an asserted "illegal election" among the plant's employees. The company — working on $1,195,000 worth of defense contracts — employs 23,000 men.

The strike was called, according to SWOC Chieftain Curtis, on "definite evidence" that employees in Bethlehem's Northampton and Saucon Division were participating in an election of the company's employees' representation plan.

The E.R.P., characterized by the CIO as a "company union," was ordered dissolved 19 months ago by the National Labor Relations Board in a general ruling on Bethlehem labor practices.

CHICAGO, March 25 — One thousand policemen surrounded the McCormick works of the International Harvester Company in Chicago today as for the second day thousands of AFL workers defied a CIO strike and went to their jobs in the plant.

Despite the huge concentration of police—representing a sixth of the city's uniformed force—several fist fights broke out among rival unionists near the plant and a worker's automobile was set afire. At least ten men were arrested, one of them charged with attacking a policeman with a screw driver.

As workers entered the plant today, an estimated 7,000 CIO sympathizers stood across the street, jeering and booing.

A showdown was imminent on the labor front of the National Defense effort today as a spectacular strike was called in the Bethlehem Steel Company plant at Bethlehem, Pa., employing 23,000 men working on defense orders totalling $1,195,000,000.

YUGOSLAVIA IN CAMP OF AXIS

a member of the axis-Japanese alliance, but not in a military capacity.

Troops Not to Pass

It provides for transit of German war supplies and hospital trains across Yugoslavia to the Greek border, but not for passage of German troops.

Nevertheless, some Belgrade circles feared German forces might move into Yugoslavia almost as soon as the ink is dry. "We don't want to be slaves," said the protesting pamphlets distributed in Belgrade.

German quarters commented that by this event Hitler had placed Europe's historically bloodiest corner under his wing without firing a shot.

This "master-stroke," they said, was begun last November when Hungary joined the axis-Japanese alliance, followed by Romania, Slovakia and Bulgaria.

They declared this parade of nations into the alliance, climaxed by today's developments, places the Fuehrer in a strategically "matchless" position to concentrate German military striking power and move swiftly to the east and west with his back and flank now well protected.

Yugoslavian adhesion to the pact, these sources added, now has completed the task of sealing up the Balkans against non-axis powers and once and for all wipes out any prospect of formation of an anti-axis bloc in southeastern Europe.

To Eliminate Greece

In addition, it was predicted that "rapid events soon will eliminate Greece as a disturbing factor" and that Turkey soon will be doing some "heavy thinking."

The Greek radio pleaded with Yugoslavia not to permit Yugoslav railways to transport bombs to kill Greek women and children. From Istanbul came a report claiming Turkey, Greece and Britain will rush to Yugoslavia's assistance if she is invaded by Nazi forces.

While the Balkan drama ground gloomily forward, sensational news came from Ankara—a Russo-Turkish exchange of notes in which the Soviets advised the Turks of Russia "complete understanding and neutrality" if Turkey is forced to fight. Turkey gave Russia similar assurances, but informed quarters regarded the agreement as Soviet encouragement to Turkey to defend the Dardanelles against any Nazi attack.

Diplomatic quarters in Ankara interpreted the Russian move as a virtual Soviet promise of weapons and war supplies to Turkey in case the Nazis strike at the Dardanelles. In addition, publication of the agreement coincided with Turkish press assertions that this country may be obliged to join Britain in war against the Reich at any moment.

New Light Seen

The new pact pointedly buttressed a 15-year-old Moscow-Ankara friendship treaty and shed new light on Russia's attitude toward German military occupation of Bulgaria and enlistment of Yugoslavia into the axis line-up.

Yugoslavia certainly "must be aware of British intentions to attack German forces wherever they may be."

That was the first grim comment from authoritative British sources today when news reached London that Yugoslavia has aligned itself with the axis powers.

Implicit in this reaction was a warning that British forces may make Yugoslavia a battle ground should German troops enter Yugoslavian territory.

In this connection, the London Daily Express affirmed today that Britain's middle eastern army has been strongly reinforced in recent weeks with planes, guns and mechanized units.

Events are moving toward a climax in the eastern Mediterranean, the paper said, and within a short time British troops may be facing the German army in Bulgaria's Struma Valley.

STEWART DECREE GRANTED

An entry was filed in Common Pleas Court Tuesday granting Artie M. Stewart, New Holland, a divorce from her husband, George. In the entry the court recognized a separation agreement signed by both parties concerning property rights and the custody of the minor children, who were given to the defendant until further notice. During the divorce hearing, 23 witnesses testified before Judge Meeker Terwilliger. Mrs. Stewart charged her husband with gross neglect and extreme cruelty and in an answer and cross-petition Stewart claimed his wife guilty of gross neglect.

Industry and labor must hang together, or they'll hang separately.

Degerstedt was reported to be seriously burned.

NEW NATIONAL DEFENSE COURSES TO BE URGED

Members of the Circleville National Defense committee, including Frank Fischer, Ben H. Gordon, Jay Clark, J. O. Eggleston, C. F. Zaenglein and J. Wray Henry, will meet Tuesday evening in the high school to discuss recommendations to be made to the board of education next week that National Defense vocational training in Circleville be continued.

At present classes in drafting and welding are being conducted in the high school building, 17 men being enrolled in each class. These projects are concluded April 25, and the committee intends to recommend that other projects be provided to take their place.

The committee visited Delaware Monday evening where it viewed National Defense work being conducted in five different courses.

When it comes to action, democracies usually put their worst foot foremost.

a member of the axis-Japanese alliance, but not in a military capacity.

Troops Not to Pass

It provides for transit of German war supplies and hospital trains across Yugoslavia to the Greek border, but not for passage of German troops.

Nevertheless, some Belgrade circles feared German forces might move into Yugoslavia almost as soon as the ink is dry. "We don't want to be slaves," said the protesting pamphlets distributed in Belgrade.

German quarters commented that by this event Hitler had placed Europe's historically bloodiest corner under his wing without firing a shot.

This "master-stroke," they said, was begun last November when Hungary joined the axis-Japanese alliance, followed by Romania, Slovakia and Bulgaria.

They declared this parade of nations into the alliance, climaxed by today's developments, places the Fuehrer in a strategically "matchless" position to concentrate German military striking power and move swiftly to the east and west with his back and flank now well protected.

Yugoslavian adhesion to the pact, these sources added, now has completed the task of sealing up the Balkans against non-axis powers and once for all wipes out any prospect of formation of an anti-axis bloc in southeastern Europe.

To Eliminate Greece

In addition, it was predicted that "rapid events soon will eliminate Greece as a disturbing factor" and that Turkey soon will be doing some "heavy thinking."

The Greek radio pleaded with Yugoslavia not to permit Yugoslav railways to transport bombs to kill Greek women and children. From Istanbul came a report claiming Turkey, Greece and Britain will rush to Yugoslavia's assistance if she is invaded by Nazi forces.

While the Balkan drama ground gloomily forward, sensational news came from Ankara—a Russo-Turkish exchange of notes in which the Soviets advised the Turks of Russia "complete understanding and neutrality" if Turkey is forced to fight. Turkey gave Russia similar assurances, but informed quarters regarded the agreement as Soviet encouragement to Turkey to defend the Dardanelles against any Nazi attack.

Diplomatic quarters in Ankara interpreted the Russian move as a virtual Soviet promise of weapons and war supplies to Turkey in case the Nazis strike at the Dardanelles. In addition, publication of the agreement coincided with Turkish press assertions that this country may be obliged to join Britain in war against the Reich at any moment.

New Light Seen

The new pact pointedly buttressed a 15-year-old Moscow-Ankara friendship treaty and shed new light on Russia's attitude toward German military occupation of Bulgaria and enlistment of Yugoslavia into the axis line-up.

Yugoslavia certainly "must be aware of British intentions to attack German forces wherever they may be."

That was the first grim comment from authoritative British sources today when news reached London that Yugoslavia has aligned itself with the axis powers.

Implicit in this reaction was a warning that British forces may make Yugoslavia a battle ground should German troops enter Yugoslavian territory.

In this connection, the London Daily Express affirmed today that Britain's middle eastern army has been strongly reinforced in recent weeks with planes, guns and mechanized units.

Events are moving toward a climax in the eastern Mediterranean, the paper said, and within a short time British troops may be facing the German army in Bulgaria's Struma Valley.

STEWART DECREE GRANTED

An entry was filed in Common Pleas Court Tuesday granting Artie M. Stewart, New Holland, a divorce from her husband, George. In the entry the court recognized a separation agreement signed by both parties concerning property rights and the custody of the minor children, who were given to the defendant until further notice.

During the divorce hearing, 23 witnesses testified before Judge Meeker Terwilliger. Mrs. Stewart charged her husband with gross neglect and extreme cruelty and in an answer and cross-petition Stewart claimed his wife guilty of gross neglect.

Industry and labor must hang together, or they'll hang separately.

HITLER'S HOLD ON ITALY HALTS PEACE EFFORTS

King Victor Emanuel And Most Of Italians Want End Of Hostilities

POPE MAY TAKE HAND

Morale Of Country Strikes New Low; Mussolini Now Puppet Of Reich

WASHINGTON, March 25—Reliable information received by the United States government indicates that King Victor Emanuel and an overwhelming majority of the Italian people favor an immediate peace settlement with Great Britain, it was learned today.

However, Italy now is considered to be so thoroughly controlled by German troops and secret police that authoritative quarters in Washington believe it is impossible for the Italian king to negotiate a peace settlement that would take his people out of the war, even if he could dispose of Premier Mussolini.

Neither Mussolini, the king nor the Italian people are believed to be masters of their own will any longer. Control of Italy is considered to have passed into the hands of Germany shortly after the collapse of the Italian armies in Libya.

Realizing that it is impossible for the king to negotiate a separate peace with Great Britain, Pope Pius XII is believed to be seeking to bring about a general European peace settlement in order to save Italy from destruction.

Informed opinion in Washington doubts whether the Vatican peace move will meet with any immediate success because it is believed Great Britain still is determined to refuse to negotiate a peace settlement with Adolf Hitler or any Nazi-dominated German government.

Furthermore, high administration officials doubt that President Roosevelt would be disposed at present to press Britain to negotiate with Hitler. The American government fears that any such move would be regarded by Germany as a sign of weakness. It is felt the time will not be ripe for a negotiated peace until Germany is convinced Great Britain cannot be defeated. American diplomatic quarters do not believe Germany will be so convinced until an invasion attempt on England meets with failure.

Both this government and Great Britain would welcome a separate peace with Italy providing Germany was not permitted to use that country as a base of operations, but little hope is held of the Italian people being able to get rid of the Germans in the immediate future.

Diplomatic advisers indicate that the following is the situation in Italy at present:

- 1—The country is completely controlled by Germany;
- 2—Italian morale has hit a new low as a result of the disastrous failure of the latest Italian offensive in Albania;
- 3—The king and the people want peace;
- 4—Premier Mussolini is suffering a persecution complex and has become, through force of circumstances rather than his own free will, a puppet of Berlin;
- 5—The pope, fearful lest Germany's continued use of Italy as a base of operations in the Mediterranean area will lead to British and Greek aerial attacks on Italian cities, including Rome, is striving to restore peace to Europe as an "Easter" present to the world.

Ohio Troops Begin Combat Training

CAMP SHELBY, Miss., March 25—A new 12-week training program for the 37th (Ohio) Division troops began Monday at Camp Shelby.

The first five weeks of the new schedule call for regimental combat team training, featuring the infantry out in front supported by artillery, engineers and medical detachments, with the quarter-masters assigned the task of supplying the troops in the field.

Divisional ceremonies, including review of the troops, will be held in the second and twelfth weeks of the new program.

The sixth, seventh and eighth weeks will be devoted to training by brigade combat teams; the ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth weeks are scheduled for training on a divisional basis. During the next 12 weeks the soldiers work 40 hours each week. Wednesday afternoons will be devoted to recreational programs. Also, the soldiers will not have to work on Saturday afternoons and Sundays as usual.

Command Post
Command post exercises will be sandwiched in with other training on the third, sixth, eighth and ninth weeks of the 12-week period.

The master schedule was prepared by Lieutenant Colonel Charles F. Craig, plans and training officer of the division and at present acting chief of staff in the

We contacted John Wilson while comfortably seated in his auto looking over some paper documents, figuring out, we'd guess who was next in line to sow peas, or maybe some additional sweet corn was yet needed. But all this is not what we wanted to know of this man Wilson who is the local Crites Cannery field man contracting for all the acres of ground to be planted to both peas and corn for factory use this season. What we really wanted to know of him, had any peas been sown yet this spring and by whom? Answering us willingly, said that Harry Rose, South Bloomfield, had the honor of being first, having planted a few acres Saturday, March 22. In all, around 600 acres will be sown, in part, of the late sweet variety. In corn, several hundred acres will be planted, some of which will be of the early Golden Bantam stretching the pack over a longer season.

TWO MEN SLAIN IN RESTAURANT AT WARREN, OHIO

WARREN, March 25 — Warren police today sought two well-dressed men who walked into a steak house and shot and killed James Munsene, 52, former operator of the Milton Lake dog track, and Felix Monfrino, 29, his business partner in the restaurant.

Witnesses said Munsene was standing at the bar when the two men entered through a side door. Police said the men ordered a friend of Munsene's to step aside and then began firing.

Monfrino was slain as he ran in from an adjoining dining room. A half-dozen customers backed against walls as the assailants fled.

Munsene was once defended by Clarence Darrow on a bootleg charge. The jury disagreed and at a second trial he was found guilty, assessed costs of both trials and put on parole.

HIGHWAY ENGINEER TALKS AT KIWANIS CLUB MEETING

Kiwanians heard an address Monday evening on "Romance of Road Building" by J. Perry Schumaker of Delaware, engineer for Division No. 6 of the state highway department. Mr. Schumaker, who has made considerable research into road building, said that excellent highways were built many years before Christ, and that many methods used today were employed hundreds of years ago to assist travel.

The speaker took his audience over an imaginary journey from Marietta, oldest city in Ohio, to Cincinnati, north to Toledo, east to Cleveland and south to Marietta again, and said that the journey could be made on modern highways in a short time, while even a few years ago it would have required a long while.

Also on the program were Billy Everett and Tony Valero, employees of the highway department, who provided musical entertainment.

The program was in charge of Tom A. Renick. The meeting was in Hanley's tearoom.

division may attack the problem through a different manner of approach but all will accomplish the same result.

Brigade
Directing the brigade training will be: Brigadier General William Marlin, Cleveland, commanding the 74th Infantry Brigade; Brigadier General Ludwig S. Conelly, Bedford, O., commanding 73rd Brigade and Colonel Leo M. Kreber, commander of the 63rd Field Artillery Brigade, Colonel A. E. Henderson, Cleveland, is commanding officer of the 112th Engineers; Colonel Stanley Wolfe, Fremont, is in charge of the 112th Quartermaster; Colonel Harry D. Jackson, Circleville, O., is commanding officer of the 112th Medical Regiment, all of which participate in the training program.

The training area for the regimental combat team exercises scheduled next week was announced today. The 74th Infantry Brigade will move along Highway 49 south to Brooklyn and bivouac in the Ashe nursery section.

The 73rd Infantry Brigade and units will move over Highway 24 to Mahoning, thence to New Augusta and south past Sweet Water church in Perry County for a distance of about 2½ miles.

In addition to regular field maneuvers, meals will be prepared in the field during the overnight marches.

SALE OF LIQUOR IN STATE MOVES AHEAD OF 1940

COLUMBUS, March 25— Sales of liquor in Ohio increased $937,000 in the first two months of 1941 as compared with the similar period a year ago, state liquor director Jacob B. Taylor announced today.

Sales of the department totaled $10,016,479, but Taylor said the increase over 1940 was due in the main to price increase not to an increase in gallonage. Gross profit increased only $34,951, Taylor said, in comparison to the $937,000 sales increase figure.

Other figures for the first two months released by Taylor showed:

Operating expenses of $557,387, a decrease of $9,828 over the same period of 1940; net profit and gallonage tax of $2,892,000, in increase of $124,000 and purchase discounts of $138,579, an increase of $75,000.

MILK MIXTURE FOR STOMACH ULCERS

A recent medical discovery now being used by doctors and hospitals everywhere has proven unusually successful in the treatment of stomach ulcers caused by excess acid. It is a harmless preparation yet so effective that in many cases the pains of stomach ulcers disappear almost immediately after it is used. Also recommended for gas pains, indigestion and heartburn due to hyperacidity. Sufferers may now try this at home by obtaining a bottle of Lurin from their druggist. Lurin contains this new discovery in its purest form. Easy to take. Just mix two teaspoonsful in a half glass of milk. Costs but little and sold under an absolute guarantee that it must satisfy or money refunded. Lurin for sale by Gallaher and drug stores everywhere.

HITLER'S HOLD ON ITALY HALTS PEACE EFFORTS

King Victor Emanuel And Most Of Italians Want End Of Hostilities

POPE MAY TAKE HAND

Morale Of Country Strikes New Low; Mussolini Now Puppet Of Reich

WASHINGTON, March 25—Reliable information received by the United States government indicates that King Victor Emanuel and an overwhelming majority of the Italian people favor an immediate peace settlement with Great Britain, it was learned today.

However, Italy now is considered to be so thoroughly controlled by German troops and secret police that authoritative quarters in Washington believe it is impossible for the Italian king to negotiate a peace settlement that would take his people out of the war, even if he could dispose of Premier Mussolini.

Neither Mussolini, the king nor the Italian people are believed to be masters of their own will any longer. Control of Italy is considered to have passed into the hands of Germany shortly after the collapse of the Italian armies in Libya.

Realizing that it is impossible for the king to negotiate a separate peace with Great Britain, Pope Pius XII is believed to be seeking to bring about a general European peace settlement in order to save Italy from destruction.

Informed opinion in Washington doubts whether the Vatican peace move will meet with any immediate success because it is believed Great Britain still is determined to refuse to negotiate a peace settlement with Adolf Hitler or any Nazi-dominated German government.

Furthermore, high administration officials doubt that President Roosevelt would be disposed at present to press Britain to negotiate with Hitler. The American government fears that any such move would be regarded by Germany as a sign of weakness. It is felt the time will not be ripe for a negotiated peace until Germany is convinced Great Britain cannot be defeated. American diplomatic quarters do not believe Germany will be so convinced until an invasion attempt on England meets with failure.

Both this government and Great Britain would welcome a separate peace with Italy providing Germany was not permitted to use that country as a base of operations, but little hope is held of the Italian people being able to get rid of the Germans in the immediate future.

Diplomatic advices indicate that the following is the situation in Italy at present:

- 1—The country is completely controlled by Germany;
- 2—Italian morale has hit a new low as a result of the disastrous failure of the latest Italian offensive in Albania;
- 3—The king and the people want peace;
- 4—Premier Mussolini is suffering a persecution complex and has become, through force of circumstances rather than his own free will, a puppet of Berlin;
- 5—The pope, fearful lest Germany's continued use of Italy as a base of operations in the Mediterranean area will lead to British and Greek aerial attacks on Italian cities, including Rome, is striving to restore peace to Europe as an "Easter" present to the world.

Ohio Troops Begin Combat Training

CAMP SHELBY, Miss., March 25—A new 12-week training program for the 37th (Ohio) Division troops began Monday at Camp Shelby.

The first five weeks of the new schedule call for regimental combat team training, featuring the infantry out in front supported by artillery, engineers and medical detachments, with the quarter-masters assigned the task of supplying the troops in the field.

Divisional ceremonies, including review of the troops, will be held in the second and twelfth weeks of the new program.

The sixth, seventh and eighth weeks will be devoted to training by brigade combat teams; the ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth weeks are scheduled for training on a divisional basis. During the next 12 weeks the soldiers work 40 hours each week. Wednesday afternoons will be devoted to recreational programs. Also, the soldiers will not have to work on Saturday afternoons and Sundays as usual.

Command Post
Command post exercises will be sandwiched in with other training on the third, sixth, eighth and ninth weeks of the 12-week period. The master schedule was prepared by Lieutenant Colonel Charles F. Craig, plans and training officer of the division and at present acting chief of staff in the absence of Colonel W. S. Bird, Columbus, who is attending the Command and General Staff school at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. Assisting Colonel Craig in preparation of the detailed schedule was Lieutenant Colonel Windom, Columbus, assistant plans and training officer.

Individuality and resourcefulness of the brigade and regimental staffs will be brought into play in connection with the new training period. Brigade staffs will map their schedule in conformity with the division's master schedule, and regimental staffs will draw up their plans in harmony with the brigade schedule. Thus, each subdivision may attack the problem through a different manner of approach but all will accomplish the same result.

Brigade
Directing the brigade training will be:

Brigadier General William Martin, Cleveland, commanding the 74th Infantry Brigade; Brigadier General Ludwig S. Conely, Bedford, O., commanding 73rd Brigade and Colonel Leo M. Kreber, commander of the 63rd Field Artillery Brigade, Colonel A. E. Henderson, Cleveland, is commanding officer of the 112th Engineers; Colonel Stanley Wolfe, Fremont, is in charge of the 112th Quartermaster; Colonel Harry D. Jackson, Circleville, O., is commanding officer of the 112th Medical Regiment, all of which participate in the training program.

The training area for the regimental combat team exercises scheduled next week was announced today. The 74th Infantry Brigade with all assisting units will move along Highway 49 south to Brooklyn and bivouac in the Ashe nursery section.

The 73rd Infantry Brigade and units will move over Highway 24 to Mahomed, thence to New Augusta and south past Sweet Water church in Perry County for a distance of about 2½ miles.

In addition to regular field maneuvers, meals will be prepared in the field during the overnight marches.

Warren, March 25 — Warren police today sought two well-dressed men who walked into a steak house and shot and killed James Munsene, 52, former operator of the Milton Lake dog track, and Felix Monfrino, 29, his business partner in the restaurant.

Witnesses said Munsene was standing at the bar when the two men entered through a side door. Police said the men ordered a friend of Munsene's to step aside and then began firing.

Monfrino was slain as he ran in from an adjoining dining room. A half-dozen customers backed against walls as the assailants fled.

Munsene was once defended by Clarence Darrow on a bootleg charge. The jury disagreed and at a second trial he was found guilty, assessed costs of both trials and put on parole.

Highway Engineer Talks At Kiwanis Club Meeting

Kiwanians heard an address Monday evening on "Romance of Road Building" by J. Perry Schumaker of Delaware, engineer for Division No. 6 of the state highway department. Mr. Schumaker, who has made considerable research into road building, said that excellent highways were built many years before Christ, and that many methods used today were employed hundreds of years ago to assist travel.

The speaker took his audience over an imaginary journey from Marietta, oldest city in Ohio, to Cincinnati, north to Toledo, east to Cleveland and south to Marietta again, and said that the journey could be made on modern highways in a short time, while even a few years ago it would have required a long while.

Also on the program were Billy Everett and Tony Valero, employees of the highway department, who provided musical entertainment.

The program was in charge of Tom A. Renick. The meeting was in Hanley's tearoom.

William Towers Takes Western Electric Job

William Towers, son of Dr. and Mrs. Otto J. Towers, East Union Street, starts to work Friday for the Western Electric Co., Kearny, N. J. For the last year he has been employed as a material engineer for the state highway department.

OWEN W. MORRIS DIES AT RESIDENCE IN KINGSTON

Owen W. Morris, 77, died Monday at 8:15 p. m. at his home in Kingston. He had been ill several years.

Mr. Morris was born March 19, 1864, and survived by his widow, Mrs. Minnie Waite Morris; a son, Dorah, Kingston, two grandchildren, three great-grandchildren, one sister and two brothers.

The funeral will be Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. at the Salem Methodist Church, the burial to be in the adjoining cemetery.

MILK MIXTURE FOR STOMACH ULCERS

A recent medical discovery now being used by doctors and hospitals everywhere has proven unusually successful in the treatment of stomach ulcers caused from excess acid. It is a harmless preparation yet so effective that in many cases the pains of stomach ulcers disappear almost immediately after it is used. Also recommended for gas pains, indigestion and heartburn due to hyperacidity. Sufferers may now try this at home by obtaining a bottle of Lurin from their druggist. Lurin contains this new discovery in its purest form. Easy to take. Just mix two teaspoonsfuls in a half glass of milk. Costs but little and sold under an absolute guarantee that it must satisfy or money refunded. Lurin for sale by grocer and drug stores everywhere.

BUYING
THE buyers' market for goods in general has changed to a sellers' market, and storekeepers and salesmen begin to worry about the public taking everything away from them. The movement doesn't seem to have hit groceries yet—and of course there is no reason why it should, because there are, and will continue to be, plenty of groceries. Also plenty of most other things necessary to feed and clothe people and enable them to carry on about as usual.

But in some things which it might be inadvisable to mention, there is a sort of creeping scarcity. And the public is inclined to exaggerate this situation, and to imagine scarcities where there are none, or will not be any at least for some time. The movement is evident in the automobile business, where the turnover is said to be more rapid than for some time. There seems to be special activity in the used car market. There is a sort of run on imported goods of many kinds, and it seems to occur to a surprising lot of people all at once to buy new clothes. Hardware of various kinds, especially aluminum ware, has been in great demand. Speaking in general, there is no reason to get excited about the situation. There will be no spectacular scarcities or jumps in price unless the public gets scared and runs away with the situation.

CANNED BEEF
IF Uncle Sam is to get ahead with solidarity in this hemisphere, something rational will have to be done about canned beef. That problem is needlessly interfering again with the harmony that should exist between the two leading nations of North and South America. The United States Senate, acting not on a basis of present facts, but apparently from habit, has been opposing again the importation of Argentine beef in the United States. There was a time when such procedure was reasonable, because it would have hurt our own cattle and packing industries. But that time is past. Experts say there is now a shortage of beef in this country, and cattle interests themselves are said to be now offering no objection to such imports. If the Senate continues to be stubborn in this matter, it may further alienate the Argentine government and people at a time when it is very important for them to stand with Uncle Sam.

Hitler may now turn to Gibraltar, which, imitating Greece, will stand like a rock.

Therein a card from Tom Gilliland who wrote he is about ready to start home, also that the next day he was scheduled for a fishing trip down among the Keys. Finest fishing in the world there, Hope Tom had better luck than the last time when the boat on which he was riding caught fire and he was forced to swim for it. Quite an experience, that.
Saw several fishermen heading for the canal where the blue gills are supposed to be biting. And heard of many others visiting the streams Sunday. I like fishing, too, but prefer mine when the sun is hot. None of this freckling to death on a stream bank for me. If the fish can't wait until Summer they can go hungry.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round
BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

TWO ISOLATIONISTS BOLT
WASHINGTON—That closed-door caucus of House Republicans which preceded passage of the $7,000,000,000 lend-lease appropriation developed into the hottest debate since Representative Joe Martin has been party floor leader.

Feeling ran so high that at one time two Midwestern isolationists, enraged by the pro-Britain attitude of Republican leaders, loudly disavowed their party and asserted they would vote for Socialist Norman Thomas if an election were held today.

The two were Representatives Harold Knutson of Minnesota and William P. Lambertson of Kansas, both violent opponents of the lend-lease bill. They erupted when Representative John Taber of New York, ranking GOP member of the Appropriations Committee, and a leading economy advocate, came out flatly for the $7,000,000,000 appropriation.

Explaining his position, Taber contended that the lend-lease program was the "best insurance possible" against the United States getting into the war.

"We need every cent of this seven billion dollars," Taber declared, "to produce the airplanes, tanks, guns and ammunition Britain needs to defend itself and the United States against encroaching forces of totalitarianism."

But Knutson of Minnesota interrupted him. "I'm surprised at the stand you of all people are taking," he roared. "In the past you have always been a Treasury watchdog. What has prompted you to change your colors?"

"I'm not reversing myself," hurled back Taber. "This appropriation is vital to the defense of the United States and I'm for defending the United States up to the hilt. The die has been cast. It is the duty of Republicans and Democrats to give their united support to this program."

"I can't agree with you," shouted Knutson. "The Republican Party is committing suicide. It has become a 'me too' party. If I had an opportunity to re-cast my vote in the last election, I would vote for Norman Thomas."

KANSAS SUPPORTS MINNESOTAN

Lambertson echoed Knutson, adding that he, too would vote for the Socialist candidate if he had it to do over again. But only a handful of died-hard isolationists applauded the two dissenters. The great majority of Republicans, including Martin, backed up Taber.

Martin jumped to his feet after Knutson's charge that the GOP was a "me, too," party and challenged him to look at the record.

"The gentleman cannot prove what he says," snapped Martin, usually a soft-spoken diplomat. "We have opposed many things sponsored by the Administration and will continue to do so in the future. But this is not a party matter. This is a national issue. That is why I asked for national unity after the lend-lease bill." (Continued on Page Eight)

Bombs and Ear Drums

Loss of Hearing Common in London; How to Treat Injuries
BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

● We hear from English physicians and surgeons a great deal about their changed experiences in war time. One very common condition in London and the bombed areas of England has been rupture of the ear drum simply from the noise of explosions.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

noise of explosions. The noise of continuous explosions may cause deafness of several days, or even weeks' duration, simply from exhaustion of the auditory nerve.

The London physicians find that an intense, shrill noise is more likely to produce nerve deafness by injury to the delicate end organs of hearing than a louder, more booming sound. The air blast that accompanies loud explosions may be forceful enough to rupture the ear drums of persons near to the source of the explosion, but the explosion of a small gun, on account of the high pitch of the noise, is more likely to injure the nerve endings of the auditory nerve.

Damp Cotton
The most useful protective and the simplest is found to be putting damp cotton in the ear canal.

But ear injuries are not confined to war areas. Slapping a child over the ear in chastisement or in rough play between children, the bursting of an inflated bag close to the ear, or the blow of boxing gloves may cause a rupture of the ear drum. Burns of the face which involve the external ear very frequently do serious damage to the organ of hearing and cause more or less permanent deafness.

Of course, injuries to the skull, automobile injuries, etc., which result in fracture, frequently extend through the temporal bone, which contains the internal ear, and cause deafness and dizziness.

Avoid Home Aids
Ear surgeons with large experience warn against certain kinds of emergency treatment of any ear injury. It is advisable not to try to syringe the external auditory canal or to put any drops in the ear under any circumstances unless, of course, this is done by an ear surgeon who knows what he is doing and has some reason for it. Experience teaches that the greatest cause of infection of the middle and internal ear structures is washing out the canal or the instillation of drops as a first-aid treatment in injuries or burns of the ear. Not only may infection be carried into the middle ear if the drum is ruptured, but if the injury has been protected by the formation of a clot, syringing may wash the clot loose and expose the middle ear to invasion.

The best emergency treatment is to apply a dry dressing of gauze and cotton over the ear and allow it to stay there until the ear is examined and properly treated by an ear surgeon.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
D. A.:—"Please tell what makes a man belch often, particularly after meals."

Answer—Belching is common to many forms of indigestion. It may occur from ulcer of the stomach, nervousness or gall bladder inflammation—most likely the last named.

J. J. J.:—"What is the cause and remedy for gums that work away from the teeth?"

Answer—The cause may be pyorrhea. Some people have constitutionally recessed gums. In most cases only good dentistry will effect a cure. Proper tooth brushing at the gum margin to stimulate the gums is important.

M. G.:—"Is there any complete cure for fallen arches, that is, by exercising, the use of arch supports and prescribed shoes? Can a chiropodist really build up broken-down arches or does he give only temporary relief? My work requires many hours standing and I find myself weary at the end of the day. At the age of 25, is it too late to get permanent relief?"

Answer—In most instances of flat-foot, the foot can be strengthened by exercise and proper shoes so that at least functional restoration is complete. Anatomical restoration is not so simple but there is no case of flat-foot that cannot be benefited by proper treatment.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Relieving Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding Instructions for the Treatment of Diarrhea," "Bacterial Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

FIVE YEARS AGO
The annual tour of Pickaway County cattle feeders was to be March 26 with four stops scheduled before the annual banquet at New Holland.

Wilbur Brinker, Marvin Steeley, Frank Miller, Stewart Beers, John Boggs, Paul Matthes and F. K. Blair planned to attend the meeting of the new soil conservation program March 25 and 26 at Ohio State University, Columbus.

Paul Wilson, Pickaway Township, was honored on his twenty-first birthday anniversary at a party for 40 guests, arranged at the Wilson home by his mother, Mrs. Austin Wilson, and his aunt, Mrs. Harry Wright.

Three persons killed by explosion and fire and the village profoundly shocked by the tragedy. Hundreds of men, women and children are killed that way every day and night in the towns and cities of Europe. Such death is the expected thing over there. We can only hope that it remains over there and does not spread to our continent.

In the evening a brief session at the Rifle Club and then home for a quiet evening of attempt to catch up on some required reading. To bed at a late hour after checking carefully all possible fire or explosion possibilities.

CHAPTER FORTY
EVE FOLLOWED Joel into the cabin.
There they threw a cover over the table, leaving it just as it was when they had finished the meal. Then when the candles had been extinguished, they went out once more. They got into Eve's little car, and drove off. Joel and Rita followed close behind. The world was beginning to take on a tinge of silver as they went bumping down the narrow road.
When they reached The Gap, Eve went in to tell her mother of their plans.
"We'll wait out here in the car for you," Bill said.
Joel went inside with Eve.
"You'll take good care of her, won't you, Mr. Randall?" Mrs. Allgood said.
"You bet I will," said Joel. "You needn't worry a moment."
"Very well," Mrs. Allgood said. She gave Eve a kiss and an embrace. "It's almost like—like—old times. Seeing you going off to dance."
"There, there, Mother!" said Eve. "Get that teary sound out of your voice! You know we're not to think about the past, much less talk about it."
"Yes, I know, my dear. But sometimes it's hard not to."
"We all do it now and then," said Joel. "But living in the past never did anyone any good."
"Of course not," said Eve.
"Mrs. Allgood managed a smile. "Have a good time," she said. "You deserve some gaiety. Eve, after all this isolation. And be good children, both of you! She went to the door with the two young people. "Tell me all about it in the morning."
"Yes, Mother, I will," Eve said. She and Joel went out to the vine-covered porch. It was very still there. No sound save that made by some sleepy birds that twittered drowsily up under the eaves.
Joel took hold of Eve's arm, drew her to him.
"They're waiting for us, Joel," Eve said.
"Let them," said Joel. He put his finger under Eve's chin and lifted her face. "Do you still object to my falling in love with you?" he asked.
"Joel—please; let's not talk about that."
"But I want to know, Eve. My vacation will soon be over. I'll be going back to Ardendale and the Randall Cotton mills—and I'd like to know just where I stand with you."
"I'm awfully fond of you, Joel," said Eve. "Really I am—but I'm so confused. Having you so thoughtful and kind, having Bill remind me so much of Carey, and—and—wanting me to get straightened out about how I feel about him."
"About Carey?"
"No, about Bill. He wants me to try to disassociate him from Carey, and then tell him whether or not I love him."
"Oh!" said Joel. "I see."
"Do try to understand, Joel," Eve begged. "I'm not certain that I love Bill or you either—although I'm going to miss you both terribly when you go. The whole range of Blue Ridge mountains will seem forlorn without you, but—"
"But you'll miss Bill the most," said Joel. "Is that it?"
"I never said so."
Joel was silent for a moment, and then he caught Eve into his arms. He kissed her.
"I've been wanting to do that for a long time," he said huskily. "I couldn't resist any longer. I hope you're not going to be too angry."
"No," said Eve, her voice oddly unfamiliar. "I'm not going to be angry, but I am surprised." She tried to laugh. "Maybe you haven't devoted so much time to the cotton mills, after all."
Before Joel could make any sort of reply, Bill began bawling the horn. Eve hurried to the steps.
"We're coming!" she called.
"Well, I think it's time!" said Bill. "Hurry, you two. We're going places."
"Ready, Joel?" Eve asked, reaching back for his hand.
"Yes," Joel replied. "I'm ready." He went down the steps—hand in hand with Eve—the feel of her lips still upon his own. But he wished she hadn't made that remark about the cotton mills. It sort of spoiled things.
After the evening of gaiety down in Asheville, which wasn't so gay for Joel after all, he had a sort of let-down sensation. It was a sort of what-the-use feeling.
He loved Eve, and he knew it. But the knowledge brought him no happiness whatsoever. How could it, when Eve was still leaning toward Bill? You couldn't get anywhere with a girl like that, one who was all mixed up because of a lot of memories; so why keep on trying? Might as well put thoughts of Eve from his mind. Joel decided, and devoted his time to those plans for the mill cottages. The more he thought about Eve—the more he pondered the situation which concerned Eve, Rita and Bill—the more mixed up he got. So, to heck with it!
For four days and evenings he figured and made sketches. He had made up his mind to return to Ardendale the next week, and he

Words of Wisdom

There is among you the man who is not bound by party lines. You vote according to your common sense and your calm judgment after hearing each party set forth its program. To you I say that the strength of this independent thought is the great contribution of the American political system.—Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Hints on Etiquette

It is rather hard on a girl when her boy friend or occasional date asks her what she would like to do on a certain evening. She usually has no way of knowing how much the boy can afford to spend, and unless she's a gold-digger she doesn't want him to spend more than he can afford. She might sound him out by saying, "I'd like to go to a night club or dance if you feel like it; or a movie would satisfy me."

Today's Horoscope

Your business will make steady progress during the next year, if you are one who has a birthday today. You may seek new enterprises and travel. Considerable gain will come to you through property, correspondence and the good will of elders. Children who are born on this date will have profound minds—keen subtle intellects and much scientific, literary and artistic ability. They will go far and be highly successful.

BUYING

THE buyers' market for goods in general has changed to a sellers' market, and storekeepers and salesmen begin to worry about the public taking everything away from them. The movement doesn't seem to have hit groceries yet—and of course there is no reason why it should, because there are, and will continue to be, plenty of groceries. Also plenty of most other things necessary to feed and clothe people and enable them to carry on about as usual.

But in some things which it might be inadvisable to mention, there is a sort of creeping scarcity. And the public is inclined to exaggerate this situation, and to imagine scarcities where there are none, or will not be any at least for some time.

The movement is evident in the automobile business, where the turnover is said to be more rapid than for some time. There seems to be special activity in the used car market. There is a sort of run on imported goods of many kinds, and it seems to occur to a surprising lot of people all at once to buy new clothes. Hardware of various kinds, especially aluminum ware, has been in great demand.

Speaking in general, there is no reason to get excited about the situation. There will be no spectacular scarcities or jumps in price unless the public gets scared and runs away with the situation.

CANNED BEEF

IF Uncle Sam is to get ahead with solidarity in this hemisphere, something rational will have to be done about canned beef. That problem is needlessly interfering again with the harmony that should exist between the two leading nations of North and South America.

The United States Senate, acting not on a basis of present facts, but apparently from habit, has been opposing again the importation of Argentine beef in the United States. There was a time when such procedure was reasonable, because it would have hurt our own cattle and packing industries. But that time is past. Experts say there is now a shortage of beef in this country, and cattle interests themselves are said to be now offering no objection to such imports.

If the Senate continues to be stubborn in this matter, it may further alienate the Argentine government and people at a time when it is very important for them to stand with Uncle Sam.

Hitler may now turn to Gibraltar, which, imitating Greece, will stand like a rock.

Pages From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Up and about the ville on a morning of bright sunshine, first halting at the post to pick up the mail. Therein a card from Tom Gulliland who wrote he is about ready to start home, also that the next day he was scheduled for a fishing trip down among the Keys. Finest fishing in the world there. Hope Tom had better luck than the last time when the boat on which he was riding caught fire and he was forced to swim for it. Quite an experience, that.

Saw several fishermen heading for the canal where the blue gills are supposed to be hitting. And heard of many others visiting the streams Sunday. I like fishing, too, but prefer mine when the sun is hot. None of this treading 'n' death on a stream bank for me. If the fish can't wait until Summer they can go hungry.

Here and there did meet a farmer—much pleased by the warmer weather and all set to start heavy work for the season. And heavy work it is on the farm despite the opinion of some that farmers these days lead a comparatively easy life. I would like to see some of those critics placed on the land for a time. Bet they would change their tune in a hurry.

Heard that Elmon Richards, the farm implement dealer, is down with the mumps and taking a heavy kidding from his friends. Chatted with Frank Lynch who is taking life a little easier than in the past and is irked somewhat by the necessity. Waved as Wallace Crist, the merchant, sounded his auto horn in my ear, and passed the time of day with Joe Burns heading for a much delayed lunch. If the federal hour law ever extends to employers Joe will have more leisure time on his hands than he now knows exists. He thinks the day lost unless he can put in 14 hours at his shop of jewels and watches.

Late in the afternoon was standing before city hall chatting with Chief McCrady when the fire alarm sounded. Saw the smoke eaters head north. The bell kept ringing, time after time. We decided someone was really excited. Headed then for the plant and enroute was passed by two ambulances and the chief in his siren-sounding car. Did crank my wagon and followed along, ending up at that tragedy on York Street. Three now dead as a result of an attempt to use kerosene to start a heating stove fire. Death always lurks around such a procedure and the fact is generally known, but still the practice continues. Death by fire is really a terrible thing as scores who saw these victims can truthfully say.

Three persons killed by explosion and fire and the ville profoundly shocked by the tragedy. Hundreds of men, women and children are killed that way every day and night in the towns and cities of Europe. Such death is the expected thing over there. We can only hope that it remains over there and does not spread to our continent.

In the evening a brief session at the Rifle Club and then home for a quiet evening of attempt to catch up on some required reading. To bed at a late hour after checking carefully all possible fire or explosion possibilities.

TWO ISOLATIONISTS BOLT

WASHINGTON—That closed-door caucus of House Republicans which preceded passage of the $7,000,000,000 lend-lease appropriation developed into the hottest debate since Representative Joe Martin has been party floor leader.

Feeling ran so high that at one time two Midwestern isolationists, enraged by the pro-aid-Britain attitude of Republican leaders, loudly disavowed their party and asserted they would vote for Socialist Norman Thomas if an election were held today.

The two were Representatives Harold Knutson of Minnesota and William P. Lambertson of Kansas, both violent opponents of the lend-lease bill. They erupted when Representative John Taber of New York, ranking GOP member of the Appropriations Committee, and a leading economy advocate, came out flatly for the $7,000,000,000 appropriation.

Explaining his position, Taber contended that the lend-lease program was the "best insurance possible" against the United States getting into the war.

"We need every cent of this seven billion dollars," Taber declared, "to produce the airplanes, tanks, guns and ammunition Britain needs to defend itself and the United States against encroaching forces of totalitarianism."

But Knutson of Minnesota interrupted him. "I'm surprised at the stand you of all people are taking," he roared. "In the past you have always been a Treasury watchdog. What has prompted you to change your colors?"

"I'm not reversing myself," hurled back Taber. "This appropriation is vital to the defense of the United States and I'm for defending the United States up to the hilt. The die has been cast. It is the duty of Republicans and Democrats to give their united support to this program."

"I can't agree with you," shouted Knutson. "The Republican Party is committing suicide. It has become a 'me too' party. If I had an opportunity to re-cast my vote in the last election, I would vote for Norman Thomas."

KANSAS SUPPORTS MINNESOTA

Lambertson echoed Knutson, adding that he, too would vote for the Socialist candidate if he had it to do over again. But only a handful of died-hard isolationists applauded the two dissenters. The great majority of Republicans, including Martin, backed up Taber.

Martin jumped to his feet after Knutson's charge that the GOP was a "me, too," party and challenged him to look at the record.

"The gentleman cannot prove what he says," snapped Martin, usually a soft-spoken diplomat. "We have opposed many things sponsored by the Administration and will continue to do so in the future. But this is not a party matter. This is a national issue. That is why I asked for national unity after the lend-lease bill." (Continued on Page Eight)

Bombs and Ear Drums

Loss of Hearing Common in London; How to Treat Injuries

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

● We hear from English physicians and surgeons a great deal about their changed experiences in war time. One very common condition in London and the bombed areas of England has been rupture of the ear drum simply from the noise of explosions. The noise of continuous explosions may cause deafness of several days, or even weeks' duration, simply from exhaustion of the auditory nerve.

Dr. Clendingen will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

The London physicians find that an intense, shrill noise is more likely to produce nerve deafness by injury to the delicate end organs of hearing than a louder, more booming sound. The air blast that accompanies loud explosions may be forceful enough to rupture the ear drums of persons near to the source of the explosion, but the explosion of a small gun, on account of the high pitch of the noise, is more likely to injure the nerve endings of the auditory nerve.

Damp Cotton

The most useful protective and the simplest is found to be putting damp cotton in the ear canal.

But ear injuries are not confined to war areas. Slapping a child over the ear in chastisement or in rough play between children, the bursting of an inflated bag close to the ear, or the blow of boxing gloves may cause a rupture of the ear drum. Burns of the face very frequently do serious damage to the organ of hearing and cause more or less permanent deafness.

Of course, injuries to the skull, automobile injuries, etc., which result in fracture, frequently extend through the temporal bone, which contains the internal ear, and cause deafness and dizziness.

Avoid Home Aids

Ear surgeons with large experience warn against certain kinds of emergency treatment of any ear injury. It is advisable not to try to syringe the external auditory canal or to put any drops in the ear under any circumstances unless, of course, this is done by an ear surgeon who knows what he is doing and has some reason for it. Experience teaches that the greatest cause of infection of the middle and internal ear structures is washing out the canal or the instillation of drops as a first-aid treatment in injuries or burns of the ear. Not only may infection be carried into the middle ear if the drum is ruptured, but if the injury has been protected by the formation of a clot, syringing may wash the clot loose and expose the middle ear to invasion.

The best emergency treatment is to apply a dry dressing of gauze and cotton over the ear and allow it to stay there until the ear is examined and properly treated by an ear surgeon.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

D. A.:—"Please tell what makes a man belch often, particularly after meals."

Answer—Belching is common to many forms of indigestion. It may occur from ulcer of the stomach, nervousness or gall bladder inflammation—most likely the last named.

J. J. J.:—"What is the cause and remedy for gums that work away from the teeth?"

Answer—The cause may be pyorrhea. Some people have constitutionally recessive gums. In most cases only good dentistry will effect a cure. Proper tooth brushing at the gum margin to stimulate the gums is important.

M. G.:—"Is there any complete cure for fallen arches, that is, by exercising, the use of arch supports and prescribed shoes? Can a chiropractor really build up broken-down arches or does he give only temporary relief? My work requires many hours standing and I find myself weary at the end of the day. At the age of 25, is it too late to get permanent relief?"

Answer—In most instances of flat-foot, the foot can be strengthened by exercise and proper shoes so that at least functional restoration is complete. Anatomical restoration is not so simple but there is no case of flat-foot that cannot be benefited by proper treatment.

CHAPTER FORTY

EVE FOLLOWED Joel into the cabin.

There they threw a cover over the table, leaving it just as it was when they had finished the meal. Then when the candles had been extinguished, they went out once more. They got into Eve's little car, and drove off, Joel and Rita followed close behind. The world was beginning to take on a tinge of silver as they went bumping down the narrow road.

When they reached The Gap, Eve went in to tell her mother of their plans.

"We'll wait out here in the car for you," Bill said.

Joel went inside with Eve. "You'll take good care of her, won't you, Mr. Randall?" Mrs. Allgood said.

"You bet I will," said Joel. "You needn't worry a moment."

"Very well," Mrs. Allgood said. She gave Eve a kiss and an embrace. "It's almost like—like—old times, seeing you going off to dance."

"There, there, Mother!" said Eve. "Get that teary sound out of your voice! You know we're not to think about the past, much less talk about it."

"Yes, I know, my dear. But sometimes it's hard not to."

"Of course not," said Eve. "Mrs. Allgood managed a smile. 'Have a good time,' she said. 'You deserve some gaiety, Eve, after all this isolation. And be good children, both of you!' She went to the door with the two young people. 'Tell me all about it in the morning.' 'Yes, Mother, I will,' Eve said. 'She and Joel went out to the vine-covered porch. It was very still there. No sound save that made by some sleepy birds that twittered drowsily up under the eaves. Joel took hold of Eve's arm, drew her to him. 'They're waiting for us, Joel,' Eve said. 'Let them,' said Joel. He put his finger under Eve's chin and lifted her face. 'Do you still object to my falling in love with you?' he asked. 'Joel—please; let's not talk about that.' 'But I want to know, Eve. My vacation will soon be over. I'll be going back to Ardendale and the Randall Cotton mills—and I'd like to know just where I stand with you.' 'I'm awfully fond of you, Joel,' said Eve. Teachers Provide Program For Session

More than 55 members attended the March session of the Parents and Teachers Society of Jackson School Monday in the school auditorium when the plan of acquainting parents of pupils with the various school courses was continued. Miss Pearl Marshall presented an interesting talk on "Music"; Miss Virginia Hines discussed "Home Economics, Physical Education and Health Education"; Carroll Woodruff told of the "Commercial Department"; G. D. Bradley discussed "Vocational Agriculture."

Pilgord Hansen, school superintendent, announced an open session of school for Thursday, March 27.

Mrs. Frank Bowling, president, conducted the business session and appointed the nominating committee which is to report at the April session. Mr. Woodruff was named chairman with Mrs. E. R. Brooks, Mrs. Walter Bunker, Miss Elizabeth Houston and Roloff Wolford as committee members.

The program committee, including Mrs. Ruby Wallon, Mrs. Ross Hamilton, Mrs. Scott Radcliff and Mr. Bradley, presented a clever entertainment which opened with a piano solo by Mrs. Paul Thompson; two vocal solos, Franklin Price, with Miss Abbie Mills Clarke as accompanist; playlet, Mrs. Warren Harmon, Mrs. Thompson and Wayne Hoover. The humorous skit cleverly showed the folly of using make-up in public.

The refreshment committee of men, headed by Mr. Hansen, served delicious doughnuts and coffee. Others on the committee were Warren Harmon, Frank Reichelderfer, Mr. Wolford and James Butts.

Dinner for Mrs. Layton

Mrs. Lida B. Layton of Columbus will be honored Friday at a family dinner when Mrs. Price Ashbrook of near Yellowbud and Mrs. James R. The old-time tall-growing cannas, having small flowers which bloomed late, are not to be compared to the new dwarf hybrids, having an abundance of beautiful flowers which appear early. These new hybrids come in striking shades of apricot, watermelon pink, and coppery hues.

Early Start With Cannas

As illustrated in the Garden-Graph, rhizomes of cannas which have been carried over winter should be divided now and potted in four-inch pots. Cut the root into single pieces, each having a strong eye. Weaker eyes can be potted up two together.

Barely cover the eyes with soil. Use a light, rich, sandy soil and keep the soil moist until growth begins. Keep the potted cannas out of drafts and place where the temperature is from 70 to 80 degrees. About the end of May, after all danger of frost is over, the plants may be removed from the pots and planted outdoors.

When the soil is poor it can be greatly improved by raking out the large stones and adding peat, plus a balanced plant food. The peat should be spaded deeply into the soil. The plant food, however, can be raked into the surface soil. The rain will carry it to the plant's roots.

A thick, self-branching ivy which has many branches springing from the base of the main stem is called Hahn's Self-Branching Ivy. This ivy's leaves are small and of a rich green coloring. Occasionally a runner grows long but it can easily be cut back.

While the vegetable area which is to be planted this year should be spaded early and deeply, much future work and worry will be saved if sticky clay is not worked when it is wet.

Early in the spring give the asparagus bed a feeding of a good balanced fertilizer. Later, just before the shoots start, apply to each plant a half-ounce of nitrate of soda.

The usual test as to whether soil is too wet to work is to press a small quantity of the soil in the palm of the hand. If it is too wet for working it will adhere in a ball.

Early in the spring give the asparagus bed a feeding of a good balanced fertilizer. Later, just before the shoots start, apply to each plant a half-ounce of nitrate of soda.

The usual test as to whether soil is too wet to work is to press a small quantity of the soil in the palm of the hand. If it is too wet for working it will adhere in a solid mass and retain the imprint of the hand. If it is dry enough to work it will crumble apart by itself.

Before the busy outdoor work of spring begins, check over the garden tools. Be sure to clean them of rust. Some will need a bit of repairing while others will need sharpening.

Parsnips and salsify (often called vegetable oyster) which have been left in the soil over winter should be dug before they begin to grow. Store them in a cool cellar.

Soil in which seeds are to be planted should be raked fine and smooth. With very fine seeds such as petunia, nicotiana and ageratum, it is advisable to sift the top inch of soil and, of course, the soil used to cover the seed. In the case of larger seed this precaution is not necessary.

4H CLUB NEWS Activities of Groups in Pickaway County

For the sixth consecutive year, the Duval Go Getters 4-H Club hold the championship banner for being the most outstanding club in Pickaway County.

This 1940 award was presented by F. K. Blair, Pickaway County extension agent, to the members at a pot-luck supper held recently at the Scioto Valley grange hall. Each year the club and the families of the members enjoy such dinners as the final club event of the year.

Many of the members won high honors at the Pumpkin Show, also at the Ohio State Fair.

The officers of the club include Ralph Swayer, president; Buss Hedges, vice president; Harold Hoover, leader; Harold Peters, treasurer; Donald Duval, secretary; Edwin Swayer, news reporter; the members, Donald Hoover, Roy Binlon, Robert Peters, Joe Vause, Billy Speakman, Billy Courtright.

A short business session was held after supper. The group adjourned to meet April 20 at the Scioto Grange Hall when the club will be reorganized for the coming year.

CONN TO SIGN CONTRACT TO FIGHT FINN PUGILIST

CHICAGO, March 25—Billy Conn, who has relinquished his claim to the lightweight crown in favor of a crack at Joe Louis and the heavyweight title in June, was to arrive in Chicago today to sign the papers for his April 4 bout in Chicago against Gunnar Barlund, Finnish heavyweight contender.

Formal signing of the contract is scheduled for tomorrow, after which Barlund will head for Stone Lake, Wis., to establish training quarters. Pittsburgh Billy plans to train in a Chicago gym.

BOUDREAU HURTS ANKLE

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 25—Russ Peters replaced Lou Boudreau today at shortstop for the Cleveland Indians after the latter suffered an ankle sprain yesterday before the Tribe edged Philadelphia's Phillies, 1 to 0. The Phils moved over to Miami for a battle with the New York Giants this afternoon.

TOILET WATER COSTLY

SACRAMENTO, Cal., — A split bottle of toilet water cost $350. Mrs. Lillian E. Robinson said she dropped a bottle of toilet water on the floor of her dress shop in Stockton and sopped it up with news papers. Fumes from the flower-scented water, ignited by the gas heater left on, caused a damage of $350 by fire.

Coach of Title Winners May Move to New Post

By Larry Newman

COLUMBUS, March 25—Potpourri gathered along the Ohio sports rialto...

Don't be surprised if Floyd Baker, coach of the state champion Martins Ferry high school basketball team, moves before next cage season rolls around... Baker has already had an attractive offer from a northern Ohio high school board as well as an Ohio College—and is about ready to accept and even a big salary jump at Martins Ferry may not change his mind...

Paul Brown, Ohio State's new football coach will get a big spread from a couple of national magazines within the next few weeks... But Paul probably won't have time to read them... He has a "killer" of a banquet schedule from now until May 10 and in the meantime will take his Buckeye gridders outdoors April 1 for spring drills...

Marion is on the verge of building a field house and already loyal citizens are talking of securing the state basketball tournament for next year... At the present time, Springfield seems to have the lead for the "B" meet with Toledo University and the Akron Goodyear gym holding a slight advantage in the "A" tourney race...

WERBER, GLEESON CLOUT BALL TO AID REDLEGS

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 25—Home runs by Bill Werber and Jimmy Gleeson enabled the world champion Cincinnati Reds to even their spring series with Brooklyn by beating the Dodgers 7 to 3. Joe Medwick smashed a four-ply clout for the Flatbushers.

One hundred and seven volcanoes are known to exist in Iceland, with thousands of craters, great and small.

Cal Hostetter, tiny Midvale star who made every all-Ohio tournament team, is only a sophomore... Pete Wolfe won't have a guard problem for at least two years... There are plenty of "talent" scouts on hand at the state tournament but apparently Coach Harold Olsen's blast of 1940 is still reverberating through the Coliseum...

There are rumors that a shake-up is coming at the University of Toledo... and it won't be in the basketball ranks not with Coach Harold Anderson's great record of the past six years... Sid Gillman turned down a head coaching job in the east to accept a position with his old friend Tommy Rogers over at Denison... Incidentally one of these days someone is going to "discover" Rogers and hire a great coach and one of the finest fellows in the football business...

Coaches at "Smoker"
More than 400 coaches and newspapermen attended a "Smoker" given by the Ohio State University athletic department last week during the state tournament...

The scholastic coaches went away singing the praises of Hugh McGranahan, one of Coach Paul Brown's able assistants... "Mac" is just what the doctor ordered for the ticklish Ohio State situation which is rapidly becoming just an unpleasant memory...

The calmest coach at the state tournament even when his great team was being routed was Bup Rearick, of Canton McKinley... It takes a great coach to be a modest winner but an even greater one to be a pleasant—yet bitterly disappointed loser...

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 25—The Detroit Tigers headed for Lakeland and a game against Buffalo today following their 1-0 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals. The Cards rallied for five hits, three more than the Tigers secured off Warneke, Gornicki, Nahem and Hutchinson, but first inning doubles by Barney McCoskey and Hank Greenberg off Lon Warneke were sufficient to ice the game. The Cardinals play the Cleveland Indians today at Fort Myers.

SEBAGO, Me., — A member of the Knights of Pythias since 1886, Edward C. Leighton, keeper of the records and seal of Sebago Lodge Knights of Pythias for 53 consecutive years, is believed to hold the record for longest continuous service in that office in Maine and probably in the country.

"We have come to our present high estate through toil and suffering and sacrifice. That which was required to produce the present standards of society will ever be required for their maintenance. Unless there is an eternal readiness to respond with the same faith, the same courage, and the same devotion in the defense of our institutions which were exhibited in their establishment, we shall be dispossessed, and others of a sterner fibre will seize on our inheritance."

OFFICIATING PLAYED

As usual, the officiating at the state tournament took and is still taking a severe lacing... One thing is certain—the referees certainly aren't over-paid... Several county tournaments in the state are more lucrative than the seventy-five bucks dealt out for the big meet and some of the state's best officials want no part of the big show especially at the price—and the price it costs in friends, next year's game contracts and razberries from the fans...

BAUMHOLTZ OUTSTANDING

More Than 18,000 Crowd Into Madison Garden For Exhibition

By Pat Robinson

NEW YORK, March 25—Basketball ruled as king of sports today in New York.

No less than 18,377 persons, the largest crowd that ever witnessed a cage contest in Madison Square Garden, were discussing how Long Island University won the National Intercollegiate championship last night and, meanwhile, more than 300 coaches were wrangling over rules of the game in general.

The Long Island quint, by no means a predominant favorite at the outset of the tourney, rallied to topple Ohio University, 56 to 42, in the pay-off match of the meet.

Trailing 21-25 at halftime, the Blackbirds found the wicker by long range soon in the second chapter and never were headed.

Sol Schwartz, a guard, paced the winners with 19 points, but little Frankie Baumholtz rang up an equal number for the Bobcats. Baumholtz, in addition, was voted the outstanding player in the tournament and his teammates, in making 53 foul shots, broke one of the meet records.

Seton Hall Bumped

In a preliminary contest, City College of New York won third place honors by defeating a Seton Hall team that failed to fulfill pre-tourney expectations.

People were packed to the rafters for the final two games of the meet, giving ticket scalpers a Roman holiday.

Attendance, which totaled 70,826, was greater than at any other of the four previous tournaments.

The coaches, who assembled for the annual convocation of their National Association, strongly favored adoption of standard rules. Their recommendations, which will come up for final vote today, will be submitted to the National Rules Committee in Kansas City a week hence.

CONN TO SIGN CONTRACT TO FIGHT FINN PUGILIST

CHICAGO, March 25—Billy Conn, who has relinquished his claim to the light-heavyweight crown in favor of a crack at Joe Louis and the heavyweight title in June, was to arrive in Chicago today to sign the papers for his April 4 bout in Chicago against Gunnar Barlund, Finnish heavy-weight contender.

Formal signing of the contract is scheduled for tomorrow, after which Barlund will head for Stone Lake, Wis., to establish training quarters. Pittsburgh Billy plans to train in a Chicago gym.

BOUDREAU HURTS ANKLE

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 25—Russ Peters replaced Lou Boudreau today at shortstop for the Cleveland Indians after the latter suffered an ankle sprain yesterday before the Tribe edged Philadelphia's Phillies, 1 to 0. The Phils moved over to Miami for a battle with the New York Giants this afternoon.

TOILET WATER COSTLY

SACRAMENTO, Cal. — A split bottle of toilet water cost $350. Mrs. Lillian E. Robinson said she dropped a bottle of toilet water on the floor of her dress shop in Stockton and sopped it up with news papers. Fumes from the flower-scented water, ignited by the gas heater left on, caused a damage of $350 by fire.

Coach of Title Winners May Move to New Post

By Larry Newman

COLUMBUS, March 25—Potpourri gathered along the Ohio sports riado...

Don't be surprised if Floyd Baker, coach of the state champion Martins Ferry high school basketball team, moves before next cage season rolls around... Baker has already had an attractive offer from a northern Ohio high school board as well as an Ohio College—and is about ready to accept and even a big salary jump at Martins Ferry may not change his mind...

Paul Brown, Ohio State's new football coach will get a big spread from a couple of national magazines within the next few weeks... But Paul probably won't have time to read them... He has a "killer" of a banquet schedule from now until May 10 and in the meantime will take his Buckeye gridders outdoors April 1 for spring drills...

Marion is on the verge of building a field house and already loyal citizens are talking of securing the state basketball tournament for next year... At the present time, Springfield seems to have the lead for the "B" meet with Toledo University and the Akron Goodyear gym holding a slight advantage in the "A" tourney race...

WERBER, GLEESON CLOUT BALL TO AID REDLEGS

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 25—Home runs by Bill Werber and Jimmy Gleeson enabled the world champion Cincinnati Reds to even their spring series with Brooklyn by beating the Dodgers 7 to 3. Joe Medwick smashed a four-py clout for the Flatbushers.

GOMER JONES APPLIES

STEBENVILLE, March 25—Gomer Jones, former Ohio State University assistant, today was listed among the 25 applicants for the Steubenville High School coaching position. Charles Cartledge, on leave of absence because of illness, is being relieved of his football duties after 22 years at the helm of Steubenville grid teams.

PETTENGILL

THE RECORD OF VERMONT

Vermont is a small State "but there are those who love it". All over the Union people live who are proud they trace back to some Green Mountain forebear.

So the fact that Vermont is celebrating the 150th Anniversary of its joining the Union is an event of importance. It was the first State to join the original twelve. But before that it enjoyed an independent existence for fourteen years. It was not carved out of federal territory, nor fragmented from another state. It had been sovereign. Only Texas ever enjoyed a similar status.

The record of Vermont is worthy of notice. Although Republican in party label it has been as strongly Jeffersonian in its attitude toward centralized power as any state in the Union, north or south.

To begin with it paid its way as it fought the Revolutionary War. It came out of that contest free of debt.

While the other States were prostrated, Vermont prospered. "The smallest of its taxes" attracted a fine quality of settlers. Her first delegation to PETTENGILL Congress in 1791, two Senators and two Congressmen, represented Yale, Dartmouth, Harvard and Princeton.

It was the first State to abolish slavery and the first to provide for universal manhood suffrage, without property qualifications. It has always stood for frugal government expenditure, pay as you go; State's rights and the town meeting. She gave the first blood of the Revolution; received the first surrender of a British flag; was first to seize and sell the property of Tories; first to answer Lincoln's call for volunteers; in proportion to population had a greater percentage of soldiers killed in action than any other state, and never surrendered a battle flag.

Vermont has never had much of the trappings of wealth or power. But, "if you know how precious freedom is, you would defend it with axes" as the Spartans said when the King's satrap ridiculed their arms.

Has the story of Vermont no meaning for the days in which we live—days in which democracies have grown fat? How is manhood nurtured? On government handouts and deficits? Or by frugal spending, plain living and hard work?

"Who's Who in America" is recognized as a fair measure of men's achievement. Some years ago an analysis was made of the place of birth of those who had won recognition in that index of accomplishment. Per 100,000 of population Vermont led every state. Perhaps the uplifters and the bleeding hearts on the Potomac can do a better job of breeding Americans than Vermont. But it remains to be proved!

It has seemed in recent years when public debt is held of no importance because "it is owed to all of us"; when deficits are glorified as "net contributions to national

As usual, the officiating at the state tournament took and is still taking a severe lacing... One thing is certain—the referees certainly aren't over-paid... Several county tournaments in the state are more lucrative than the seventy-five bucks dealt out for the big meet and some of the state's best officials want no part of the big show especially at the price—and the price it costs in friends, next year's game contracts and razberries from the fans...

Cal Hostetter, tiny Midvale star who made every all-Ohio tournament team, is only a sophomore... Pete Wolfe won't have a guard problem for at least two years... There are plenty of "talent" scouts on hand at the state tournament but apparently Coach Harold Olsen's blast of 1940 is still reverberating through the Coliseum...

There are rumors that a shake-up is coming at the University of Toledo... and it won't be in the basketball ranks not with Coach Harold Anderson's great record of the past six years... St. Gillman turned down a head coaching job in the east to accept a position with his old friend Tommy Rogers over at Denison...

Incidentally one of these days someone is going to "discover" Rogers and hire a great coach and one of the finest fellows in the football business...

Coaches at "Smoker"

More than 400 coaches and newspapermen attended a "Smoker" given by the Ohio State University athletic department last week during the state tournament... The scholastic coaches went away singing the praises of Hugh McGranahan, one of Coach Paul Brown's able assistants... "Mac" is just what the doctor ordered for the ticklish Ohio State situation which is rapidly becoming just an unpleasant memory...

The calmest coach at the state tournament even when his great team was being routed was Bup Rearick, of Canton McKinley... It takes a great coach to be a modest winner but an even greater one to be a pleasant—yet bitterly disappointed loser...

TIGERS NEED TWO BLOWS TO DEFEAT CARD OUTFIT

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 25—The Detroit Tigers headed for Lakeland and a game against Buffalo today following their 1-0 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals. The Cards' rapid Bridges, Thomas and Tebbets for five hits, three more than the Tigers secured off Warneke, Gornicki, Nahem and Hutchinson, but first inning doubles by Barney McCoskey and Hank Greenberg off Lon Warneke were sufficient to ice the game. The Cardinals play the Cleveland Indians today at Fort Myers.

CIRCLEVILLE SCHOOL COST PER PUPIL REMAINS LOWEST IN STATE

CITY'S EXPENSE FOR LAST YEAR UNDER AVERAGE

Wellston Ranks Closest To Local Figure, OSU Report Reveals

MANY FACTS DISCLOSED

Most Of Items Go Higher Than In Previous Term

For the second consecutive year, Circleville schools rank lowest in the state in the cost for each pupil in average daily attendance, according to a report for the 1939-40 school year released by the Bureau of Educational Research at Ohio State University.

The report reveals the grand total cost for each pupil enrolled in Circleville schools at $71.79, eighteen cents under Wellston, which has the next lowest figure. Total current expense for city schools is $62.89 or $4.80 higher than the figure for the Wellston schools, but the amount expended for interest and debt retirement in Circleville is considerably lower than that of Wellston, keeping Circleville's grand total figure at the bottom of the 109 schools listed.

Largest item in the current expense total was instruction cost, which ran $44.42 compared with $42.83 during the 1938-39 school year. General control, which covers cost of administration of the school as a whole, including salaries and expenses of the school board, school business managers, and other school employees not including teachers, cost $3.92 last year, about 70 cents higher than the same item the year before, but still 80 cents under the average set by cities of from 5,000 to 10,000 population.

Others Higher

Plant operation, including salaries and supplies of janitors, engineers and other building employees, and cost of fuel, light and water, was $9.20 for each pupil in average daily attendance, $1.20 higher than the figure shown in the report of the year before, but $3.30 under average plant operation costs for cities of similar size.

Plant maintenance for Circleville ran $2.87 last year, compared with $1.25 the year before and with the $3.89 state average.

Average total current expense for cities in Circleville's classification is $87.74. Fixed charges, including rent, insurance, taxes and payments made by the school district to the teachers' and to the public employee's retirement system was $2.48 for each pupil, slightly higher than the year before but still more than a dollar under the state average.

The report was compiled by T. C. Holy and Roy Wenger of Ohio State University, and presents an analysis of the current expenses and total payments for each pupil in average daily attendance in the 109 Ohio city and the 79 exempted village school districts for the school year, 1939-1940.

NAVY RECRUITER PLANNING VISIT TO CIRCLEVILLE

A navy recruiter will be at the postoffice in Circleville Friday, March 28, from 12:45 p. m. to 3 p. m. to interview persons between 17 and 31 who are interested in enlisting in the U. S. Navy.

Accepted applicants may be ready for enlistment as little as one day, H. W. Koch, recruiter, said Tuesday, since there is no waiting list. Applicants between 17 and 18 are enlisted until their twenty-first birthday with written consent of parents or guardian.

Library Maintains Its Own Hospital To 'Aid' Books That Are Damaged

On an average of 400 books are rebound by employees of Circleville Public Library each year, according to Daniel Pfoutz, librarian. Consequently the library has its own "hospital" for its 36,000 volumes, where books are sent for "operations" and "treatment."

According to Mr. Pfoutz, books lining the shelves are subject to countless casualties and if it weren't for the "hospital", the library would be put to a heavy additional expense in supplying books to the reading public.

Books have both "common" and "incurable" ailments, Mr. Pfoutz said, adding that "dog-eared" pages and mischievous puppies and children account for most of the "fatalities" in the book family.

"Common diseases" are treated at the "hospital" in the library. Scribbles are rubbed off with soft gum erasers, broken backs are replaced by new ones of recasing leather (a heavy fabric), while torn pages are mended with onion skin and paste. When volumes need rebinding they are sent to a bindery "clinic" in Cleveland for recovery.

"Dog-eared" (resulting from the reader's habit of marking his place by turning down the corner of the page) is a lingering illness, Mr. Pfoutz said. Once contracted this "disease" is with the book for life, as there is no remedy for it.

Fatalities among books result from their being soaked by water, torn by children or chewed by dogs. Although covers of all books are shellacked, in order to afford them a degree of protection from rain and snow, once they have been left out in bad weather, dropped in a puddle or bathtub (Don't read while taking a bath!), their days of service are apt to be over as the pages warp and ripple and frequently stick together.

Borrowers are requested to pay for books torn by children or puppies.

Dogs are responsible for more book fatalities than any other factor. Next come readers too young to know the rules of book etiquette. Babies and small children yank out pages in the middle of a good mystery yarn, or smear crayon over the costly plates in a history of art.

Carelessness is a big hazard in book traffic. Burning cigarettes, hot irons, dripping tumblers, and a night out in the rain blights the careers of many volumes in the Circleville library.

RADIO ANNOUNCER SAVED FROM CHINESE MURDERERS

SHANGHAI, March 25—An apparent attempt to assassinate Carroll Alcott, American radio commentator, was frustrated today when two Chinese members of the International Settlement police force fired on armed Chinese loiterers near the entrance of American-owned radio station XHMA.

One of the Chinese thugs was wounded and captured, but his companion escaped. The incident occurred a few minutes before Alcott, who had received notes warning he was to be killed today, arrived at the station for a broadcast.

for which the Civil Aeronautics Board gives it credit. However, Pan American is now asking a subsidy of $8,180,000 on its Latin American routes next year, instead of the $6,000,000 paid this year and this is the question to be determined in the present rate hearings.

Simultaneously, Pan Am is vigorously opposing a half-million dollar appropriation to American Export Lines to launch a competing line across the Atlantic, and this question is now before the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The White House has taken the stand that competition across the Atlantic is healthy, and favors a rival line.

In contrast, it is interesting to note that Pan Am built up its system in Latin America during the Hoover Administration, when Walter Brown, then Postmaster General, sent a note to Secretary of State Stimson asking him to help Pan Am in its diplomatic negotiations "in preference to any other American company."

ROOSEVELT FAVORS COMPETITION

Over this twelve-year period, Pan American has received a total of some $73,000,000 from the Government. Part of this was used for pioneering new lines across the Pacific and Atlantic,

ASHLAND MAN'S BODY LOCATED ALONG ROADWAY

CINCINNATI, March 25—The search for Herbert G. Beatty, 58-year-old Ashland, Ky., furniture salesman who had been missing since March 11, was ended today with the discovery of his body along a road near Mt. Holly, in adjoining Clermont County.

Police said Beatty's body bore a bullet wound below the ribs. He had been missing since he left Ashland for Cincinnati. His bullet-perforated, blood-stained automobile was found abandoned in a downtown Cincinnati street that same day.

Highway patrolmen said the body was discovered by Earl Binning, a farmer. It was lying about 15 feet off the gravel road in high weeds and grass.

CIRCLEVILLE SCHOOL COST PER PUPIL REMAINS LOWEST IN STATE

CITY'S EXPENSE FOR LAST YEAR UNDER AVERAGE

Wellston Ranks Closest To Local Figure, OSU Report Reveals

MANY FACTS DISCLOSED

Most Of Items Go Higher Than In Previous Term

For the second consecutive year, Circleville schools rank lowest in the state in the cost for each pupil in average daily attendance, according to a report for the 1939-40 school year released by the Bureau of Educational Research at Ohio State University.

The report reveals the grand total cost for each pupil enrolled in Circleville schools at $71.79, eighteen cents under Wellston, which has the next lowest figure. Total current expense for city schools is $62.89 or $4.80 higher than the figure for the Wellston schools, but the amount expended for interest and debt retirement in Circleville is considerably lower than that of Wellston, keeping Circleville's grand total figure at the bottom of the 109 schools listed.

Largest item in the current expense total was instruction cost, which ran $44.42 compared with $42.83 during the 1938-39 school year. General control, which covers cost of administration of the school as a whole, including salaries and expenses of the school board, school business managers, and other school employees not including teachers, cost $3.92 last year, about 70 cents higher than the same item the year before, but still 80 cents under the average set by cities of from 5,000 to 10,000 population.

Others Higher

Plant operation, including salaries and supplies of janitors, engineers and other building employees, and cost of fuel, light and water, was $9.20 for each pupil in average daily attendance, $1.20 higher than the figure shown in the report of the year before, but $3.30 under average plant operation costs for cities of similar size.

Plant maintenance for Circleville ran $2.87 last year, compared with $1.25 the year before and with the $3.89 state average.

Average total current expense for cities in Circleville's classification is $87.74. Fixed charges, including rent, insurance, taxes and payments made by the school district to the teachers' and to the public employees' retirement system, was $2.48 for each pupil, slightly higher than the year before but still more than a dollar under the state average.

The report was compiled by T. C. Holy and Roy Wenger of Ohio State University and presents an analysis of the current expenses and total payments for each pupil in average daily attendance in the 109 Ohio city and the 79 exempted village school districts for the school year, 1939-1940.

NAVY RECRUITER PLANNING VISIT TO CIRCLEVILLE

A navy recruiter will be at the postoffice in Circleville Friday, March 28, from 12:45 p. m. to 3 p. m. to interview persons between 17 and 31 who are interested in enlisting in the U. S. Navy.

Accepted applicants may be ready for enlistment in as little as one day, H. W. Koch, recruiter, said Tuesday, since there is no waiting list. Applicants between 17 and 18 are enlisted until their twenty-first birthday with written consent of parents or guardian.

Library Maintains Its Own Hospital To 'Aid' Books That Are Damaged

On an average of 400 books are rebound by employees of Circleville Public Library each year, according to Daniel Pfoutz, librarian. Consequently the library has its own "hospital" for its 36,000 volumes, where books are sent for "operations" and "treatment."

According to Mr. Pfoutz, books lining the shelves are subject to countless casualties and if it weren't for the "hospital", the library would be put to a heavy additional expense in supplying books to the reading public.

Books have both "common" and "incurable" ailments, Mr. Pfoutz said, adding that "dog-eared" pages and mischievous puppies and children account for most of the "fatalities" in the book family.

"Common diseases" are treated at the "hospital" in the library. Scribbles are rubbed off with soft gum erasers, broken backs are replaced by new ones of recasing leather (a heavy fabric), while torn pages are mended with onion skin and paste. When volumes need rebinding they are sent to a bindery "clinic" in Cleveland for recovery.

"Dog-eared" (resulting from the reader's habit of marking his place by turning down the corner of the page) is a lingering illness, Mr. Pfoutz said. Once contracted this "disease" is with the book for life, as there is no remedy for it.

Fatalities among books result from their being soaked by water, torn by children or chewed by dogs. Although covers of all books are shelledacked, in order to afford them a degree of protection from rain and snow, once they have been left out in bad weather, dropped in a puddle or bathtub (Don't read while taking a bath!), their days of service are apt to be over as the pages warp and ripple and frequently stick together.

Borrowers are requested to pay for books torn by children or puppies.

Dogs are responsible for more book fatalities than any other factor. Next come readers too young to know the rules of book etiquette. Babies and small children yank out pages in the middle of a good mystery yarn, or smear crayon over the costly plates in a history of art.

Carelessness is a big hazard in book traffic. Burning cigarettes, hot irons, dripping tumblers, and a night out in the rain blights the careers of many volumes in the Circleville library.

RADIO ANNOUNCER SAVED FROM CHINESE MURDERERS

SHANGHAI, March 25—An apparent attempt to assassinate Carroll Alcott, American radio commentator, was frustrated today when two Chinese members of the International Settlement police force fired on armed Chinese loiterers near the entrance of American-owned radio station XHMA.

One of the Chinese thugs was wounded and captured, but his companion escaped. The incident occurred a few minutes before Alcott, who had received notes warning he was to be killed today, arrived at the station for a broadcast.

for which the Civil Aeronautics Board gives it credit. However, Pan American is now asking a subsidy of $8,180,000 on its Latin American routes next year, instead of the $6,000,000 paid it this year and this is the question to be determined in the present rate hearings.

Simultaneously, Pan Am is vigorously opposing a half-million dollar appropriation to American Export Lines to launch a competing line across the Atlantic, and this question is now before the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The White House has taken the stand that competition across the Atlantic is healthy, and favors a rival line.

In contrast, it is interesting to note that Pan Am built up its system in Latin America during the Hoover Administration, when Walter Brown, then Postmaster General, sent a note to Secretary of State Stimson asking him to help Pan Am in its diplomatic negotiations "in preference to any other American company".

lease bill passed, and I urge it just as strongly now."

Note—Next day, in the Appropriations Committee, Lambertson proposed slashing the lend-lease bill to five billion, whereupon Representative Jack Houston, a Democrat and fellow-Kansan, moved that the sum be raised to ten billion. "I'm doing this," he said, looking Lambertson in the eye "to demonstrate to the committee that my colleague does not speak for Kansas in opposing aid to Britain." When Lambertson's amendment was smothered 27 to 3, Houston grinned, withdrew his amendment.

PAN AMERICAN AIRWAYS

The most scathing castigation of an air-mail contract since the day in 1934 when Jim Farley canceled all of them, was delivered last week by counsel for the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Sam Gates of the CAB not only urged that the present mail subsidies be canceled, but demanded that Pan American be made to refund the amounts paid it by the Government during the past three years.

"The rates of compensation now being received by Pan American Airways, Inc.," Gates proclaimed, "are excessive and are neither fair nor reasonable."

He made this statement after returning from a complete tour of Latin America, flying over most of the Pan American Airways routes, where he found that Pan Am did not have a single hard-surfaced runway nor radio range station in Brazil.

Raising the question of Pan American's managerial efficiency, Gates reported that "much of the operation" in Latin America "is no more difficult than the conduct of an airline operation across the United States". Nevertheless, he reported, Pan Am was receiving from the Government six times as much as the average domestic airline.

Because of this subsidy, Gates reported, Pan Am had made a total profit of $16,000,000 on an investment of only $10,000,000.

"To put it another way," Gates said, "the carrier has made profits during this twelve-year period equal to the total capital employed, plus an over-all profit of 60 percent."

ROOSEVELT FAVORS COMPETITION

Over this twelve-year period, Pan American has received a total of some $73,000,000 from the Government. Part of this was used for pioneering new lines across the Pacific and Atlantic,

ASHLAND MAN'S BODY LOCATED ALONG ROADWAY

CINCINNATI, March 25—The search for Herbert G. Beatty, 58-year-old Ashland, Ky., furniture salesman who had been missing since March 11, was ended today with the discovery of his body along a road near Mt. Holly, in adjoining Clermont County.

Police said Beatty's body bore a bullet wound below the ribs. He had been missing since he left Ashland for Cincinnati. His bullet-perforated, blood-stained automobile was found abandoned in a downtown Cincinnati street that same day.

Highway patrolmen said the body was discovered by Earl Binning, a farmer. It was lying about 15 feet off the gravel road in high weeds and grass.
